April 18, 2022

Macysnet announcement – publication of Ready to Ship Calculator

In order to assist vendors in optimizing shipment preparation and routing, a "Ready to Ship" calculator has been published on Macysnet (sign-on required). This calculator should be utilized by all vendors to determine when purchase orders should be routed and shipped to meet the InDC date assigned by the buyers and transmitted in the EDI 850 purchase order. Please note that this calendar is to be utilized for all shipment requests submitted in 2022; an updated calendar will eventually be published for 2023.

The tab labeled "RTS CALENDAR" is prepopulated to the first InDC date of each fiscal month for general U.S. regions. The tab labeled "RTS CALCULATION" may be customized using any InDC date and specific ship-from zip code. Further instructions are detailed in the Instructions tab.

As a reminder, the InDC date on all Macy's and Bloomingdale's purchase orders is the date at which shipments should arrive at the corresponding Macy's/Bloomingdale's final destination distribution center (excludes replenishment purchase orders which should be shipped immediately). The InDC date should not be treated as a "start ship" date.

Please address all questions related to this invaluable tool to vendorcollaboration@macys.com.

Thank you.